The Journal Computational Management Science is editing a special issue on the occasion of the 12th conference of the same name held in Prague, Czech Republic, May 27-May 29, 2015.

We invite recent contributions with a strong focus on the computational aspects of management science in the wider sense, especially (but not limited to) stochastic programming and robust optimization. Manuscripts should be submitted via the CMS submission system, choosing special issue: "S.I.: CMS 2015":
